18 Killed in Hotel Fire; 20 More Feared Dead

MANY INJURED AS THEY LEAP FROM WINDOWS

Minneapolis Firemen Battle Blaze in Temperature Five Below Zero.

By The Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 3 — Eighteen persons were known to have died, and 20 more were feared dead in a fire that destroyed the Marlborough apartment hotel this morning.

Morgue Keeper John Anderson said at 10 a. m., four hours after the fired was discovered, that 17 bodies had been brought to the morgue, and that he had just had a call to send the morgue ambulance to the apartment for at least one more.

One victim, identified as Mrs. Mabel Brown, 34, died in general hospital of a fractured skull. She had jumped from a third floor window with her husband, who was in poor condition.

Anderson said three victims had been identified as Otto Franke, about 25, his sister, 16, and his mother, about 50.

The only other body identified even tentatively was that of Florence Hesse, 30, who jumped to her death out of a third floor window.

Firemen found three persons dead shortly after they reached the scene, about 6 a. m., but it was two hours before they were able to fight their way to the second floor, where additional bodies were found.

At least 25 persons were taken to hospitals for treatment of burns and injuries sustained by jumping from windows of the 85-apartment building.

Hears Explosion

Mrs. Eloise Huson, a resident there, said she was awakened shortly before 6 a. m., by what she thought was a "terrific explosion." She said she heard cries for help, and was met by a rush of flame and smoke when she opened her door.

She escaped by dropping in her nightgown from a second floor porch, and was unhurt.

As firemen searched the wreckage of the upper floors, they found so many bodies that ambulances and hearses were pressed into service to take them to the morgue.

One fireman suffered a possible broken back when he fell through the roof of the building.

Dick Daniels, professional boxer, suffered leg injuries and possible internal injuries sustained when he jumped from the window of his third floor apartment.

Passersby Aid Rescue

Passersby, attracted by the fire on their way to work, helped numerous residents out of windows on the lower floor, and helped occupants, many of whom were clad only in night clothing, to the homes of neighbors for shelter against the bitter cold.

Firemen battled the blaze in 5 below zero weather.

The fire, which occupants said started without warning, raged through the interior and left only the red brick walls standing.

The water pouring from fire hoses froze nearly as soon as it hit the walls, and hoses froze to the ground. All the apparatus was sheathed in ice.

Witnesses said the fire appeared to spurt simultaneously from all nine entrances to the three sections of the apartment.

The caretaker of the building said there were between 100 and 125 persons living there.

SOVIET MASSES FOR BIG DRIVE

Seven More Divisions Reported Called for Assault on Mannerheim Line.

By The Associated Press

HELSINKI, Jan. 3—Irked by setbacks, Soviet Russia was reported today to be massing seven army divisions—about 105,000 men—as the spearhead for a major offensive against the Finnish Mannerheim line on the Karelian isthmus.

(Previous estimates of Russia's manpower before the Mannerheim line were upwards of 300,000 men. Authoritative sources have said Finland has 190,000 combat troops opposing the invaders on all fronts.

Fighting in a sub-zero blizzard which checked enemy air attacks, the Finns said Soviet attacks near Lake Lavajarvi on the eastern front yesterday were converted into Finnish victories. A Russian front line base was reported seized.

Hear News of Battle

Meanwhile, reports of how Finnish troops trapped the 163d Red army division Dec. 29 and 30 in the greatest battle of the war, reached the capital for the first time.

Four thousand of the 15,000 men making up the 163d infantry division were drawn up on ice-covered Lake Kianta when the Finns surrounded them, it was said. The lake is in the "waistline" sector of the eastern frontier. More than 1,000 were killed before a tight ring was drawn around the remainder, according to the Finns.

After opening up the trap to allow Russian reinforcements to enter, the Finns closed in again and set up machine-gun nests along the shore, it was said. Land forces attacked the bottled up enemy by night and the airforce by day.

Finns Rout Soviets

By The Associated Press

WITH THE FINNISH FORCES NEAR LAKE KIANTA, JAN. 2—(Delayed)—An army of lumberjacks on skis today was pursuing the hungry, freezing remnants of a shattered Soviet army division into the wilderness of forests and snow near the central Finnish-Russian border. The Finns have won the battle of Lake Kianta, leaving thousands of Soviet troops dead—the greatest single battle victory of the war in Finland. Russian efforts to force their way across Finland's "waistline" and bisect the country have been halted here.

Million in U. S. Tinged With Red, Dies Reports

Committee Finds Subversive Influences Are on Decline Here as Result of Foreign Situation; Some C. I. O. Leaders Branded as Communists.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 — The Dies committee estimated today that not more than 1,000,000 Americans have been seriously affected by subversive activities, which it said were declining rapidly because of the international situation.

"The time may speedily come when they will cease to be seriously regarded by anyone in the United States," the committee said in reporting to the house on its two-year investigation of un-American activities.

In a 15,000-word summary of its hearings, signed by all seven members after a stormy meeting, the committee drew these major conclusions:

1. The overwhelming majority of C.I.O. members, including President John L. Lewis, are not Communists or Communist sympathizers, but the leadership of a quarter of the C.I.O. unions is "more than tinged with Communism."

2. It omitted from a list of "Communist front" organizations the American Youth Congress, which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt had upheld.

3. The Soviet-Nazi pact has helped protect constitutional democracy by "making more clear the real nature of all dictatorships" and by revealing the similarity between Hitler's Nazism and Stalin's Communism.

Agents of Foreign Powers

4. Both the German-American bund and the Communist party in the United States are agents of foreign power and should be controlled.

5. The Communist advocacy of changing the United States government violates the 1933 treaty by which the United States recognized Russia.

6. There is a "remote possibility" that Communists, Nazis or Fascists might overthrow the nation's constitutional government, but a "greater chance" exists that opponents of one form of violence may accept another type they find less objectionable.

7. Elimination of subversive activities depends on earnest efforts of all groups and on strict law enforcement.

8. The committee, which expires tonight, should be continued to make certain that the "confusion" among subversive organizations "is turned into complete rout."

Those who signed the report in person were Representatives Dempsey, Starnes (D-Ala.), Casey (D-Mass.), Voorhis (D-Calif.), Thomas (R-N. J.), and Mason (R-Ill.). The name of Chairman Dies (D-Tex.), who is ill at Orange, Tex., was affixed by a clerk.

The report asserted that Communists early attempted to gain a foothold in the American Federation of Labor, then switched to the C.I.O.

"It is unmistakably clear," the committee said, "that the overwhelming majority of the members of the C.I.O. as well as its president are not Communists or Communist sympathizers, but sincere American workers seeking to improve their lot in life in perfectly legitimate American fashion."

Red Unions Listed

But the report said that on the basis of testimony, Communist leadership was entrenched in these unions:

National Maritime Union; United Cannery, Packing, and Allied Workers; Federation of Architects; Chemists and Technicians; Fur Workers International union; International Longshoremen's and Warehouseman's union; American Communications association; United Electrical Radio and Mechanical Workers of America; United Furniture Workers of America.

The committee repeated its contention that the Communist party "bores from within" through "front organizations." It listed these as "fronts":

American League for Peace and Democracy, International Workers Order, American Student Union, Friends of the Soviet Union, National Negro Congress, Southern Negro Youth Congress, League of American Writers, Workers Alliance, Spanish Refugee Relief campaign, North American Committee to Aid Spanish Democracy, Friends of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade."

The committee declared that "probably the largest, best financed and certainly the best publicized" Fascist group is the Silver Shirt Legion of America, whose leader is William Dudley Pelley. It added:

"From the documentary evidence and testimony before the committee concerning the activities of Pelley, the conclusion that he is a racketeer engaged in mulcting thousands of dollars annually from his fanatical and misled follower and credulous people all over the United States and certain foreign countries, is inescapable."

CHARGES U. S. MONEY AIDING IRISH REBELS

By The Associated Press

DUBLIN, Jan. 3—A charge that the outlawed Irish Republican army was financed with money from the United States was made in parliament today as legislators met in special session to draft drastic laws to combat any menace to public safety.

Justice Minister Gerald Boland, describing a raid on the Phoenix park arsenal Dec. 23 when huge quantities of ammunition were stolen, declared the Irish government was sure that large sums of money had come from America to finance the I.R.A. extremists.

Government agents have captured packages of American currency, he told parliament which met under heavy guard amid rumors of an impending rebellion.

Boland said persons connected with the illegal organization had "large sums of money, arms and explosives" and were engaged in hostile activities.

Aroused by repeated rumors that the underground Irish Republican army was planning open rebellion, the Irish, (Eire) government asked parliament to approve today investing authority to meet any threat.

WOUNDED UNITY ON WAY HOME

English Woman Fascist Carried Aboard Channel Boat on Stretcher.

(Picture on Page 2)

By The Associated Press

CALAIS, France, Jan. 3—Miss Unity Valkyrie Freeman-Mitford, ailing British friend of Adolf Hitler, left for Folkestone today on a Channel steamer to which she was carried on a stretcher.

She was accompanied by her mother, Lady Redesdale, a sister, Deborah Vivien, and a nurse on the final leg of a homecoming trip said to have been arranged for the blond Englishwoman by the German fuehrer himself.

The Redesdale party had spent the night at a hotel here.

She was understood to be suffering from a serious head injury. (The London Daily Mail said it was a gunshot wound and that surgeons would operate to remove the bullet.)

Lady Redesdale and Deborah Vivien, the youngest of Lord and Lady Redesdale's six daughters, spent last night with Miss Freeman-Mitford in a hotel. They had gone to Switzerland to meet her and reached here yesterday. In England, Miss Mitford's father, Lord Redesdale, has been waiting for her arrival at Folkestone for three days with an ambulance.

Miss Freeman-Mitford's family has not divulged the nature of her injury, or illness. It was learned, however, she was in such a weakened condition that she could walk only a few steps unassisted.

Since her family learned she had an "accident" Aug. 9 in Munich, British newspapers variously have reported her to be suffering from a gunshot wound, poison, or some unspecified illness that followed a violent quarrel with Hitler during which he assailed Great Britain.

Before the war, Hitler once said he considered her a model of "Nodic beauty." Of Hitler, she said, "I think he is wonderful;" and of herself, "I am a woman Fascist." She admired Nazism.

One Fireman In Hospital After Long Mill Siege

Over Nine-Hour Battle Is Waged in Cold To Halt Blaze.

After a continuous battle lasting nine hours and 14 minutes, city firemen finally quenched the last spark of the costly fire at the Old Fort Mills plant yesterday, Chief T. J. McFarland reported today. The fight, one of the longest in recent years here, was not ended until shortly after 1:30 p. m.

Meanwhile, one fireman was in the City hospital today suffering from acute bronchitis brought on by exposure and several other men had nipped fingers, colds and bruises from falling on the ice. The 25 men who served from shortly after 4 a. m. yesterday until the fire was finally quenched represented most of the department, which has only 31 men in all.

The fireman in the hospital is Burdette Bindley of 674 East Center street. He stayed on with his fellow firemen, rode back to the station on his truck and then left for home at 3 o'clock. He was admitted to the hospital at 1 a. m. today for treatment. His condition was regarded as good, attendants said. He is employed at the Mark street station.

Commenting on the length of the fight against the fire, Chief McFarland said today that the satisfactory aspect of the situation is that the firemen did not have to go back again to put out a new outbreak. Had they left

Robber Holds Up Farmer in Home Near Green Camp

County authorities today continued their investigation of a report made by George Zeig, about 70, that he was robbed of $6 by an intruder who gained entrance to Zeig's farm home three miles west of Green Camp Monday night, on the pretense of wanting to make a telephone call.

Although furnished with only a meager description of the robber, officials indicated they had several leads on which they were working. The incident occurred about 7 p. m., Monday, but was not reported until last night. The report was delayed until the victim's telephone, ripped from the wall by the intruder, had been repaired.

Mr. Zeig, home alone at the time, said he answered a knock at the door and that the intruder asked to use the telephone. Once inside, the man ripped the telephone from the wall, called [illegible]

Police Launch Campaign Against Violators of City's Traffic Laws

Strict Enforcement Program Replaces "Courtesy" Plan of Last Few Weeks.

A rigid traffic enforcement program aimed at improper parking, overtime parking and reckless driving was announced today by Police Chief Marks.

Since Dec 15 the police department has been issuing "courtesy" traffic tags, warning motorists of traffic code violations, but starting immediately officers will use regulation tags summoning offenders into court, the chief said. Starting tomorrow the department's motorcycle patrolmen will be assigned to check automobiles for overtime parking, marking cars in restricted zones every two hours and tagging cars remaining in a parking space over the time limit. Two-hour parking zones exist throughout the [illegible] town business district and are clearly marked, Chief Marks pointed out.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, Jan. 4

ANOTHER strenuous day in which sudden and surprising events may prove disconcerting if not devastating, is indicated by the lunar and mutual figures. Unpredictable situations which may arise call for decisive action, lightning change in plans associations or surroundings may be required. When conditions seem confused and baffling seek the wise counsel of "higher ups" and do not reject assistance or advice from an elderly woman. Shun extravagance strife and impetuosity, as well as fickleness, in private relations.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of upheaval, with sudden and unpredictable developments of radical effect and possibly breath - taking experience. Change of plans objectives and associates are imminent. When overwhelmed by surprise confusion and indecision, confer with those in high places or with friendly women of advanced years. Avoid extravagance rash and impulsive conduct and fickle affections.

Those whose birthday it is may be capable and enterprising but may have sudden and peculiar vicissitudes in life. Superiors or elders may be of benefit in helping adjustments or clarifying suspicious circumstances.

MANOAH JONES, 91, FOUND DEAD AT HOME

Retired Painter Stricken; Rites To Be Held Friday.

Manoah Jones, 91-year-old retired painting contractor, was found dead this morning at his home at the corner of East Center street and Forest Lawn boulevard.

Coroner M. F. Axthelm said that Mr. Jones apparently died from a cerebral hemorrhage about 9 o'clock last night. Lights were found burning in the house and Mr. Jones was only partially dressed, indicating he had died while preparing to retire.

The body was found in the bedroom of the home shortly before 10 o'clock this morning by a neighbor, A. L. Wood of 133 Pennsylvania avenue. Mr. Wood notified police who in turn called Coroner Axthelm.

Mr. Jones lived alone and Mr. Wood frequently went to the home in the morning to assist him with his work.

A lifelong resident of Marion, Mr. Jones had been a painter here for more than 50 years before retiring a few years ago. Active and in comparatively good health, Mr. Jones was custodian at the Van Atta Supply Co. until last September when he moved to the East Center street home. Recently he assisted in cutting down several trees on the property, relatives said.

Mr. Jones was born in Marion Sept. 18, 1848 to Mr. and Mrs. Levi Jones and was married to Miss Sadie Chapman who died 31 years ago. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Edward Searles of Kirkpatrick, formerly of Marion.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Merle H. Hughes funeral home on Mt. Vernon avenue at 2 p. m. Friday and burial will be in Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 8 o'clock tonight.

PENSIONER HOSPITAL BILL RULING GIVEN

Marion Official's Question Decided by Attorney General.

The Ohio attorney general, Thomas J. Herbert, has issued a ruling in response to a request by Prosecuting Attorney Paul D. Michel of Marion regarding responsibility for hospital bills of old age pensioners, The Associated Press reported today.

The attorney general held that the state division of aid for the aged must pay hospital bills for pensioners up to $30 a month and any additional cost must be borne by the city or township in which they reside. He also held that the state division is not permitted to cancel a pension without cause.

Prosecutor Michel said he sought the ruling to determine responsibility for hospital bills of one or two pensioners here. He said there was some disagreement as to whether the county government, rather than the city or township in which the pensioners reside, would be liable for hospital bills of pensioners.

FIRE

earlier, such a new fire would have been possible. The flames lingered in soy bean meal at the bottom of one of the bins and was almost impossible to get at, since the bin was barred with heavy beams.

Officials of the company at North Grand avenue and George street today were laying plans for rebuilding the soy bean department which suffered the bulk of the damage. A crew of workmen was busy cleaning up the debris and as soon as possible work on a new building will begin, officials said.

They reported it probably will be several months before the department can be put in operation again. The feed department will continue without interruption.

Extent of the damage to the costly machinery of the soy bean department has not been determined but experts from machinery companies are expected to arrive within a short time to make an inspection. Officials yesterday estimated the damage at from $150,000 to $200,000.

Cause of the fire has not yet been determined, they said.

Morrow Co. Boy Scout Leaders Hold Annual Meeting; Marion Men Speak

Nelson Campbell of Mt. Gilead was re-elected chairman of the Morrow county district of Boy Scouts at the annual dinner meeting of Morrow county scout leaders at the Globe hotel in Mt. Gilead.

Other district officers elected last night are: Walter Breese of Mt. Gilead, district commissioner and organization chairman; Lowell Patterson of Cardington, leadership training chairman; E. J. Bishop of Jonnsville, camping and activities chairman; W. R. Haines of Mt. Gilead, health and safety chairman; and Rev. L. E. Rush, pastor of Trinity Methodist church at Mt. Gilead, advancement chairman.

Cites Gains in 1939

Fred P. Strother, scout executive, reported the number of scout troops in the district had been increased from one to three during the last year with an increase in membership from 43 to 62. Another troop is being organized at Iberia, he reported. A year ago, Troop 27 of Mt. Gilead was the only active troop in the county. In 1939 a troop at Cardington was reorganized and a new troop formed at Johnsville.

In the principle talk, Alfred Donithen, Marion attorney, described scouting as "an important factor in teaching youth to think as individuals."

Comparing democracies with dictatorships, Mr. Donithen pointed out that the chief distinction between the two is the ability and privilege of persons living in a democracy to think as individuals and then to register their convictions in the form of organized public opinion.

Urges Individual Thinking

"It is important that children, especially those living in small and medium sized towns, be taught to think, for it is public opinion in the smaller towns that formulates public opinion throughout the country," he declared.

Badges for 10 years of service in the Boy Scout movement were awarded to O. E. Smith and his son, Max Smith, both of Mt. Gilead. O. E. Smith is a member of the troop committee of Troop 27 while his son formerly was assistant scout master of the troop. The awards were made by Rev. Rush. Invocation was given by Rev. Robert Rushing of Iberia.

Marion men attending the meeting included Mr. Strother, Dr. F. R. Mann, president of the Harding Area council, E. B. Willey, chairman of the council health and safety committee, and C. M. Howser, chairman of the council camping committee.

CONGRESS

Republican and three Democratic vacancies, with three new members on hand to be sworn in this noon.

Among the latter was Mrs. Clara G. McMillan (D-S. C.), elected to succeed her late husband. She becomes the fifth woman in the house.

Two prominent senators, Clark (D-Mo.) and Norris (Ind.-Neb.), were on the sick list. Clark arranged ot enter a hospital here to have a hip tumor removed, while Norris in Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore for a general checkup.

No special legislation is on this week's calendar, but house leaders said they would be prepared next week to take up the first of a dozen or more general appropriation bills. They will lead off with one providing $270,000,000 for army, navy, and the expenses created under the President's emergency proclamation after the European war began.

Barkly said that the senate would loaf along for awhile by waiting for the house to send over some legislation.

Trade Pacts Up

Senator McNary told reporters that Republicans in both houses were virtually agreed it would be better to try to require senate ratification of the reciprocal trade pacts with foreign nations than to work for outright repeal.

The state department now negotiates the agreements without ultimate congressional action. McNary said he and Rep. Martin had agreed that the senate ratification proposal would "get more votes." McNary also looks for fights on appropriations. He said that if the President "whittles normal appropriations to make way for increased defense items, there is going to be some squawking."

Indications have been the President would ask for no new general taxation, but might call attention again to promises made by Democratic leaders to levy higher taxes should congress appropriate millions for unbudgeted farm subsidies.

While hoping that increased business will reduce the deficit and relief outlays, the administration is said to be giving tentative consideration to a special tax to pay for emergency defense appropriations, expected to run around $2 000,000,000. One special levy talked of would superimpose a 10 per cent tax on the amount of tax paid by individuals and corporations.

Senator King, Democrat of Utah, called for a "moratorium on purely partisan politics" for the session, but Senator Taft, Republican of Ohio, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, took issue with the idea, even in regard to foreign affairs.

"To say that foreign policy is not a political matter is ridiculous," Taft said. "If a foreign policy is urged that will get us into war, then its the duty of every Republican to oppose it."

Democratic leaders, responding to this argument, said it was the same offered by the opposition when the neutrality revision legislation was before congress. That measure, they added, had worked well toward the goal of keeping the war from our shores.

MARION C. I. O. GROUP WINS NLRB DECISION

Is Named Alloy Cast Steel Bargaining Agent.

A ruling that the Alloy Cast Steel Co. of Marion is engaged in interstate commerce and must bargain collectively with the steel workers organizing committee upon request was handed down today by the national labor relations board, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Cleveland.

Company officials and NLRB representatives compiled a list of stipulations presented at a formal hearing held here early last spring. The company previously had challenged a board order on the ground that only about four per cent of its product goes directly into interstate trade.

The board found that the company is owned in common with the Osgood Co. and the General Excavator Co., both of Marion, manufacturers of power shovels and excavating machinery. It found further that all but about four per cent of the Alloy company's product goes to the two affiliated firms and that, subsequently 85 to 95 per cent is sent into interstate trade.

The board certified SWOC, a C.I.O. affiliate, as bargaining agent Feb 8, 1939 upon evidence of membership of 59 of the Alloy company's 83 employes.

Oscar S Smith, NLRB director, said the case is unusual in the common ownership and indirect interstate commerce.

MURPHY SLATED FOR SUPREME COURT JOB

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3—Frank Murphy will be appointed to the supreme court and Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson will succeed him as attorney general, it was learned today on high authority.

This shift in the justice department has been widely predicted ever since the death of Justice Pierce Butler last November 16.

The reports increased yesterday when President Roosevelt conferred with both Murphy and Jackson.

On Capitol hill today it was reported that the President would send these nominations to the senate tomorrow along with the nomination of Senator Schwellenbach, Democrat of Washington, to fill a vacancy on the bench of the eastern federal district court of Washington state.

Other authoritative sources predicted that Judge Francis Biddle would leave the Third circuit court of appeals to succeed Jackson as solicitor general.

Biddle was chairman of the old national labor board and was counsel to the congressional committee which investigated TVA a year ago.

GERMANY PROTESTS HELP FOR FINLAND

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Jan. 3—Authoritative sources said today Germany would be "forced" to take an active part in the Russian-Finnish war, if France sends Alpine troops to Finland's aid.

They declared this would be a military matter, but did not say what form the assistance might take.

Landing of French or British troops, they argued, would mean the allies were establishing a foothold in Finland, "thus spreading the war."

An authoritative Nazi source said yesterday there would be little doubt of German support for Russia if British soldiers appeared on Finnish soil or if munitions deliveries from Britain were to reach decisive proportions.

STRICKEN TURKEY HIT BY NEW EARTHQUAKE

By The Associated Press

ANKARA, Jan. 3—A new earthquake was reported today to have leveled 10 villages in the Yozgad area, adding to Turkey's quake damage of last week as the river Euphrates broke its banks, spreading terror in the region of southern Anatolia.

The Yozgad region, scene of widespread suffering from previous tremors, was thrown into a panic by the latest shocks. Hundreds of buildings collapsed. Nearly a thousand persons were made homeless.

The death toll, however, was expected to be slight, since the people had sufficient warning to flee to open spaces.

With scores of villages in western Anatolia still submerged, flooding of the thickly populated Euphrates valley was expected to increase the estimated 46,200 dead in the combined disasters.

ADMITS KIDNAP CHARGE

CLEVELAND, Jan. 3—Michael Balyint, 18, was held to the federal grand jury today in the kidnaping of Theodore Fairley of Freedom, Pa. Balyint pleaded guilty. Joseph Gondos, 22, similarly charged, is in a hospital with a bullet wound in his leg. He was shot last week attempting to escape from police who sought the pair for a traffic violation.

NEW PLEA FOR CCC CAMP TO BE MADE

Efforts being made locally to assist with the establishment of a civilian conservation corps in Marion county were to be presented today to CCC officials at Lima. W. H. McElhaney, assistant to County Engineer Carl H. Tozzer, was to present signatures of more than 350 landowners in sympathy with the proposal to establish a camp and an expression of willingness to cooperate from the board of county commissioners. The commissioners announced they will provide a site for the CCC camp and already have passed a resolution asking the Marion county fair board for permission to use a portion of the fairgrounds east of the horse barns for that purpose.

Leaders on New York's Sixth Avenue Plan Two-Mile Boulevard of Trees

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. — Those [illegible] trees which caused [illegible] when they appeared [illegible] Fifth avenue last [illegible] given big ideas to [illegible] neighbors over on [illegible] Sixth avenue.

Now the ugly Sixth avenue [illegible] has been torn [illegible] sunshine to [illegible] for the first time [illegible] business men are [illegible] two-mile boulevard [illegible] would transform this [illegible] that bisects Manhattan from Greenwich village to Central park—8th street to 59th—into an American "Unter Den Linden."

Experts warned that growing trees on this highway where no living plant had found root for nearly a century would be practically a horticultural miracle.

Air Polluted

Air pollution is said to be about the worst of any main thoroughfare in the world. And the immobility of gas toxins is something awful, say the experts. Besides, the city's building the new Sixth avenue subway has put 32,000 tons of steel and 220,000 tons of concrete under the street for the tree planters to work in and around.

"But if the Rockefellers can do it, so can we," said Col. V. Clement Jenkins, president of the Sixth Avenue association, who many years ago saw his 89-cent winter hat set afaire by a hot cinder falling from the old 6th avenue "El" steam engine.

The Sixth avenue shops are not internationally famous, like those of Fifth, and their customers spend less money, but they are pooling resources for an undertaking that will cost them more than a quarter of a million dollars—even before upkeep is considered.

They're determined to make those eight giant elms fronting Rockefeller center and the dozen elms and maples recently presented to St. Patrick's cathedral, across Fifth avenue, by Major Edward Bowes, look like a little rustic sideshow.

Expert on Job

William J. Anderson, former department of agriculture expert, is doing the Sixth avenue job. At its lower end, three oriental plane trees were dedicated last week.

"We're making a start now at the other end of the avenue, where we are going through three floors to bedrock," said Anderson. "In most places we won't be able to reach bedrock and the waterproof concrete vaults for the roots and earth will be suspended on steel girders. Besides all the concrete and steel of the new subway, we've got to contend with 1,000 miles of steam, gas and electric and sewer and water piping. In some places we can use the subway ventilating systems for pits."

There's an underground river still running parallel to the avenue—a forgotten stream that nurtured Manhattan island before civilization came—but it won't do the trees any good, Anderson said.

Fully developed 20-year-old oriental planes will be planted in most places because they can stand five tons per cubic mile of air pollution. But there may be areas where they can use linden, honey locust and ginko, a hardy Asiatic cousin of the sycamore and buttonwood.

The oriental planes will be about 20 feet high, 5 to 7 inches in diameter, and will be brought from Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Long Island with the roots of each in a six-ton ball of heat-generating chemicals and earth.

"We have to keep sticking a thermometer in the ball to see that the temperature is right," said Anderson.

A nine-foot tube with a decorative cap will be planted with each tree. Through the tube, the tree will get a special diet of chemicals.

ENTERS STATE RACE

WILLIAM J. KENNEDY

KENNEDY IN CONTEST FOR OHIO GOVERNOR

Former Secretary of State Declares Candidacy.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Jan. 3—William J. Kennedy, former secretary of state, declared his candidacy today for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Kennedy, 56, asserted "the state has failed to show leadership in the relief and unemployment situation." The present administration is "blinded by personal ambition," he said, and is "determined to establish a financial record even at the cost of moral bankruptcy."

Gov. Bricker, Republican, has asserted he would be a candidate for a second term.

Democrat Herbert S. Duffy, former attorney general who, like Kennedy, was swept from office in the 1938 Republican swing, also has announced for governor. Charles Sawyer, who lost to Bricker in 1938, and former Gov. Davey have not indicated whether they will enter the Democratic race.

Kennedy is regional U. S. wage-hour administrator here.

Kennedy, a Welsh immigrant at the age of 24, announced that James F. Connors, his former assistant secretary of state and a Cleveland lawyer, was in charge of his temporary headquarters. Kennedy was four times a Cleveland city councilman. Under former Gov. White, he was assistant state welfare director until he resigned to become public service director in Cleveland. He later was Cleveland manager of the Home Owners' Loan Corp.

U. S. Opens Study of Mental Cases Among Prisoners

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 — A major move to coordinate research into the causes of adverse behavior was taken by the federal government with establishment of the first of three units for borderline psychopathic prisoners at the Chillicothe, Ohio, federal reformatory.

James Bennett, director of prisoners, today reported to congress the Chillicothe project "raised the hope that such units may eventually occupy a prominent place in every penal institution." Two similar sections are under construction, one at the El Reno, Okla., federal reformatory, and a third at the justice department's medical center for federal prisoners at Springfield, Mo.

Bennett pointed out that borderline psychopathic prisoners who, are accused of a considerable percentage of offenses, are regarded as legally sane and few are committed to state hospitals for the insane.

"The medical units of the penal and correctional institutions have been so habitually understaffed that they could not devote serious effort to the investigation of borderline psychopaths," he said.

"These cases, therefore, have not been studied with the same intensity as other types of mental affliction and comparatively little is known about them."

Bennett said penal and correctional institutions offered "unequalled opportunity for the study of conduct disorders."

A steady increase in the population of the Chillicothe reformatory was reported by Bennett.

The number of offenders "i the institution, on parole and probation increased from 1,507 in 1938 to 1,574 in 1939.

In the country as a whole there were 58,258 offenders under federal supervision in 1938 as compared with 58,529 in 1939.

YOUR HEALTH

Chilblain

What is chilblain?

Chilblain is the hang-over of a frost-bite. An area of skin that has once been frozen keeps on winter after winter, aching and throbbing. The blood supply was once entirely cut off and the blood vessels can not regain their resiliency and elasticity. The foot is the usual location, but there may be chilblain of the hand, ear or nose.

Too sudden warming of a frost-bite is said to be the real reason for chilblain. The symptoms are a continued, intense itching and burning, with congestion and swelling of the affected part, whenever it is exposed to cold. Fissures and ulceration occur in severe cases.

The subjective symptoms are more impressive than the objective state. Areas which show but slight reddening on inspection may be bewailed loudly by the patient.

What hygienic rules apply to the baby's second year?

The great rule of infancy and childhood is regularity. Sleep, meals, sunshine, bathing, exercise, bowels, dressing and undressing all should be put on schedule.

During the first six months of the second year, the baby should sleep 15 hours a day; during the latter six months, 12 to 13 hours.

The bath should be systematic, given daily at the same hour in a regular, routine fashion. The temperature of the bath water should be around 90 degrees F. Bathe the baby before feeding time, preferably between nine and ten in the morning. Don't forget to clean the eyes with boric acid solution.

Exercise is more necessary for a baby than for an adult. Hold him in your arms with the back supported and move the spine and all the extremities. Carry him around the room this way for 15 or 20 minutes morning and evening.

Meals should be timed at 6 a. m., 10 a. m., noon, 2 p. m. and 6 p. m. Eggs, vegetable soup, stewed fruit, zweibach, cereal, and bits of tender meat can be added to the standard milk and cod liver oil diet.

What can you do for winter coughs that hang on?

Coughs that "hang on" are due to encysted spots of infection. Such a spot in one of the crypts of the sinuses of the nose may discharge a small amount of secretion every now and then; it seeps down the back of the throat and when it lights on the larynx, at the top of the windpipe, it starts irritation and coughing. Spray the nose with oldfashioned Dobell's solution morning and evening. Dr. Horace Dobell wrote a book "On Winter Cough," so he should be a good authority.

Questions and Answers.

H. T.: "Is it harmful to the appendix or to the general health of a person to eat grape seeds?"

Answer — When surgeons first began to remove appendices in the latter decade of the last century, they used to find on cutting them open that they had small stones in them which they sometimes took to be grape seeds, and which sometimes were grape seeds. Usually they are what is called "faecal concretions," a formation of small stones in the bowel. Any normal appendix is always filled with two or three of them, and they themselves have nothing to do with appendicitis. Grape seeds can be swallowed without any fear of consequences.

P. T. M.: "Could taking one teaspoonful of dry sulphur every night become harmful if taken over an extended period?"

Answer—It could be harmful right away without being taken over any extended period of time at all. I can't imagine under what circumstances anyone would even think of taking sulphur in this way. Sulphur is [illegible] tion, (2) to rub on the skin to kill the itch mite, (3) in acne, externally, (4) as a laxative as part of compound licorice powder, (5) with cream of tartar in old-fashioned "spring medicine," (6) in certain worm infestations of the intestines, (7) to produce artificial fever, chill, etc., in paresis. Our knowledge of its poisonous qualities is derived from accidental administration and observations on laborers in oil districts where carbon disulphide is formed. This produces sore throat, bronchitis, deafness and temporary blindness (amblyopia.)

One Is Beloved

BY LOUISE PLATT HAUCK

YESTERDAY: Eric returns to New York, leaving Sue to struggle with her problems. She wonders if she can relinquish love for duty.

CHAPTER 33.

The Choice.

"If the cases were reversed how long would Bob stick to me?" Sue inquired of herself. "Why, when Cecily was here there were times when he seemed actually to reproach me for the inconvenience she caused him! He'd deceived me about her, he'd fallen in love, married, parted from a wife . . . and it was so unimportant to him that he'd never told me!

"I played fair! I warned him before we were married that I might meet the right man, fall in love with him . . . and Bob laughed! Well, let him laugh now! He'll be hurt," she mused more seriously. "He'll be badly upset for days—for weeks. But he'll find consolation in the sympathy of the town. Even if he lets me divorce him, it will come out later that I've married Eric and everyone will know I treated Bob badly. Allen will try his best to make it up to Bob. Barbara will. Maybe Barbara and Bob . . . stranger things have happened!"

She sighed heavily.

"If he'd only suspect—quarrel with me about Eric! If we could bring the subject out in the open, discuss it, even angrily. But Bob's like a trustful child. It has never occurred to him that his wife—his wife!—could be other than faithful with him, anything else but entirely happy! The unconscious egotism of it, the appealing confidence! I'm torn between the two. But there's Eric to think of, as well as Bob, Eric!"

And at that beloved name, her senses swam. Firelighted room, Allen, Barbara, Bob—all were swept away as she imagined herself once again held close in Eric's arms, listening to the pounding of a heart which beat for her alone.

How she knew that to be true, she could not have told, but know it she did. Eric's covering of sophistication hid something shy and sweet and hitherto untouched. It was deep calling to deep, between her and Eric Farraday. It was the traveler in a strange land experiencing the shuddering delight of hearing his own tongue spoken after weary days of dismay, bewilderment. It was discord resolved into harmony, it was voyage-worn ships making harbor at the close of a long season, it was cool water in the desert, flame in the snow, the deliciousness of food after famine.

It might not last, it could not last—for Eric; but even to experience it briefly was an enchantment she had no right to deny herself or Eric.

She, little Sue Davenport, with her odd dark face and her unimportant mind, was a worker of miracles. Out of all the women whom Eric had met—and they had been many, and clever, and beautiful—she had been chosen to turn the key which let love into his being. Oh, marvelous, oh, wonderful! What, in comparison to this, was the keeping up of that "satisfying relationship" of which Bob had spoken?

Nothing! Less than nothing! Tomorrow—or at least the day after Christmas—she would tell Bob so; explain quite kindly and firmly that duty, after all, was not only a personal matter, but a relative matter; that her duty to Eric's genius far outweighed anything she might once have promised Bob Trenton, of the Treadon Shoes.

Sue put the screen in front of the fire, snapped off the one lamp she had kept burning, paused by the window for a last look at the river, lighted only by the stars tonight, and took her way up to bed. Bob was fathoms deep in sleep among his own pillows.

"Only You."

Christmas Eve found Sue with her plans made. She and Bob would celebrate the holiday as usual, with Pats and Allen coming for dinner the night before and remaining until late Christmas afternoon. And when they had gone, and Bob and Sue were alone, she meant to talk to him quietly, calmly about a divorce.

She had not reached her decision without many heartaches. It was as if two personalities strove within her: the tender, loyal girl who had married her husband, honestly confessing that the sort of love she had for him was not the sort she had dreamed of surrendering as a bride; and the new, slightly ruthless woman, made ruthless by her devouring passion for Eric Farraday.

Eric's letters arrived daily, spurring her to immediate action, steadying her oft-times wavering plans.

She shopped as usual for Christmas gifts: a luxurious evening coat for Pats, who had hinted strongly for it; books and silk socks for Allen; for Bob — she had hesitated over this, disliking the impersonality of such a present yet disliking still more to choose anything more intimate—a carved jade paperweight for his office.

She had never to ask Bob for money for her personal needs. The generous allowance he had made her when they were married not only sufficed her but kept a comfortable surplus in the bank. She was glad of this. It was, she reasoned, her money because she had saved it; therefore she need not scruple to use it for traveling expenses when she left St. Joseph.

As she drove home from a last moment shopping trip late on the afternoon of Christmas Eve, she felt that everything was done she could do to make this occasion a successful one. Holly hung in the windows, a gay wreath of it on the front door. The pantry was stocked with delicacies for tomorrow, the great turkey was ready for its chestnut stuffing. Two of the guest rooms had been prepared for Allen and his wife. The servants had been remembered, the fees for postman, milkman and various others were neatly sealed in their tiny envelopes.

Because snow had fallen that morning, she wore her galoshes. Their rubber soles made no sound as she went upstairs and into her own sitting room to deposit her last purchases. The door was slightly ajar and from within came the murmur of voices.

"Pats must have come early!" she thought, and with a light hand swung the door gently open. The tableau which met her eye froze her where she stood. Bob was seated in a corner of the couch, his elbows on his knees, his face in his hands. Before him Patsy knelt, her half bare arms pulling his face down to hers.

"Poor, poor boy," she was crooning. "My poor darling Bob!"

From those spread, desperate fingers came a broken murmur.

"Pats, Pats! There's only you."

Violent Love Affair.

Nolselessly Sue withdrew; gained her bedroom without the absorbed pair at the other end of the room knowing of her presence. Her face was flaming, her palms were icy.

So! While she had been wrestling with her conscience over the coming separation with Bob, he had been indulging in a violent love affair with—this was what hurt, this was what stung her pride!—with Patsy, of all people! Pats, whom Bob had called "cheap," against whose greediness he had warned Sue, at whose unkindness to Allen he had railed.

And now, in Sue's own sitting room, dressed in the very gown Sue had bought for her, this scene was being enacted!

As always when in the grip of emotion, she walked to the window and stared out. She stood there a long time, not hearing Allen's arrival, not even knowing when Patsy and Bob went downstairs. Suddenly she threw back her head with the gesture of one freeing himself of a heavy burden.

"This certainly simplifies things! I was a fool to let it upset me. Why, it makes everything perfect! Bob will give me a divorce, and console himself with Pats. Allen, dear Allen, will be free of her at last! Oh, it couldn't be better!"

"Sue!" It was Bob shouting below. "We're all waiting for you. Coming down soon?"

"In five minutes," she returned composedly.

When she joined them around the fire below, she fairly sparkled. She had run a wet comb through her curls and they framed her face charmingly. Her lips were crimson, her cheeks bore traces of unusual color. Her eyes shone as they had not done in years.

"Golly, Sue, what have you done to yourself?" Allen asked admiringly.

She answered gayly, stole a glance toward Bob. He seemed as usual save for a certain look of strain about his eyes. Perhaps he, too, had been fighting a battle with conscience, she thought a little pityingly. How absurd that she couldn't put an end to the situation now, in a few forthright words.

"You love Pats, Bob, and Allen will be glad to be rid of her. As for me, I'm counting the days, the hours, until I can marry Eric Farraday. Let's all plan, like the sensible persons we are!"

The words very nearly escaped her; would have, she thought later, if it had not been for her brother. Allen's sensitive face, lighted now with happiness in being with his dearly loved sister, checked them almost as they left her lips. No, better do the thing more decorously. The day after Christmas she would quietly leave the house, take a bus to Kansas City, and from there a plane to New York. She would not talk to Bob, she would write. No need now to distress herself or him by the interview she had planned.

It was a queerly hilarious Christmas. Bob seemed in wild spirits though now and then he fell into fits of brooding which, Sue thought, she would not have observed had it not been for what she knew of him. Pats on the contrary was quieter than usual. Only her new attitude of tenderness toward Bob betrayed her. Sue was gayest of them all. If it was a brittle sort of gayety, if her laugh had a feverish note, no one seemed to realize it.

FULL TEXT OF PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS BEFORE CONGRESS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 — The text of President Roosevelt's annual message to congress follows: [illegible] congress reassembles, [illegible] wars abroad makes [illegible] approach "The State of the Union" through a discussion [illegible] affairs.

[illegible] important that those [illegible] read this message [illegible] no way confuse that [illegible] with any thought that [illegible] government is abandoning, [illegible]erlooking, the great [illegible] of its domestic pol-

[illegible] and economic forces [illegible] been mismanaged [illegible] they have resulted [illegible]n revolution, dictatorship and [illegible] the same as those which [illegible] are struggling to adjust [illegible] at home.

You are well aware that dictatorships—and the philosophy of conflict which justifies and accompanies dictatorships—have originated in almost every case in the belief in necessity for drastic action to improve internal conditions where democratic action for one reason or another has failed to respond to modern needs and modern demands.

CONSTITUTION FRAMERS WERE FAR-SIGHTED

It was with far-sighted wisdom that the framers of the constitution brought together in one magnificent phrase three great concepts—"common defense," "general welfare" and "domestic tranquility."

In previous messages to the congress I have repeatedly warned that, whether we like it or not, the daily lives of American citizens will, of necessity, feel the shock of events on other continents. This is no longer mere theory for it has been definitely proved by the facts of yesterday and today.

To say that the domestic well-being of one hundred and thirty million Americans is deeply affected by the well-being or the ill-being of the populations of other nations is only to recognize in world affairs the truth we all accept in home affairs.

If in any local unit—a city, county, state or region—low standards of living are permitted to continue, the level of the civilization of the entire nation will be pulled downward.

The identical principle extends to the rest of a civilized world. But there are those who wishfully insist, in innocence or ignorance or both, that the United States of America as a self-contained unit can live happily and prosperously, its future secure, inside a high wall of isolation while, outside, the rest of civilization and the commerce and culture of mankind are shattered.

I can understand the feelings of those who warn the nation that they would never again consent to the sending of American youth to fight on the soil of Europe. But, as I remember, nobody has asked them to consent—for nobody expects such an undertaking.

The overwhelming majority of our fellow citizens do not abandon in the slightest their hope and expectation that the United States will not become involved in military participation in the war.

I can also understand the wishfulness of those who over-simplify the whole situation by repeating that all we have to do is to mind our own business and keep the nation out of war. But there is a vast difference between keeping out of war and pretending that this war is none of our business.

WE HELP OURSELVES BY HELPING OTHERS

We do not have to go to war with other nations, but at least we can strive with other nations to encourage the kind of peace that will lighten the troubles of the world, and by so doing help our own nation as well.

I ask that all of us everywhere think things through with the single aim of how best to serve the future of our own nation. I do not mean merely its future relationship with the outside world. I mean its domestic future as well—the work, the security, the prosperity, the happiness, the life of all the boys and girls of the United States, as they are inevitably affected by such world relationships. For it becomes clearer and clearer that the future world will be a shabby and dangerous place to live in—even for Americans to live in—if it is ruled by force in the hands of a few.

Already the crash of swiftly moving events over the earth has made us all think with a longer view. Fortunately, that thinking cannot be controlled by partisanship. The time is long past when any political party or any particular group can curry and capture public favor by labeling itself the "peace party" or the "peace bloc." That label belongs to the whole United States and to every right thinking man, woman and child within it.

For out of all the military and diplomatic turmoil, out of all the propaganda and counter propaganda of the present conflicts, there are two facts which stand out and which the whole world acknowledges.

The first is that never before has the government of the United States done so much as in our recent past to establish and maintain the policy of good neighbor with its sister nations.

U. S. BELIEVED STRONG FORCE FOR PEACE

The second is that in almost every nation in the world today there is a true public belief that the United States has been, and will continue to be, a potent and active factor in seeking the re-establishment of peace.

In these recent years we have had a clean record of peace and goodwill. It is an open book that cannot be twisted or defamed. It is a record that must be continued and enlarged.

So I hope that Americans everywhere will work out for themselves the several alternatives which lie before world civilization, which necessarily includes our own.

We must look ahead and see the possibilities for our children if the rest of the world comes to be dominated by concentrated force alone—even though today we are a very great and a very powerful nation.

We must look ahead and see the effect on our own future if all the small nations throughout the world have their independence snatched from them or become mere appendages to relatively vast and powerful military systems.

We must look ahead and see the kind of lives our children would have to lead if a large part of the rest of the world were compelled to worship the God imposed by a military ruler, or were forbidden to worship God at all; if the rest of the world were forbidden to read and hear the facts—the daily news of their own and other nations—if they were deprived of the truth which makes men free.

We must look ahead and see the effect of our future generations if world trade is controlled by any nation or group of nations which sets up that control through military force.

PAST CENTURIES REVEAL RECORDS OF OPPRESSION

It is, of course, true that the record of past centuries includes destruction of small nations, enslavement of peoples, and building of empires on the foundation of force. But wholly apart from the greater international morality which we seek today, we recognize the practical fact that with modern weapons and modern conditions, modern man can no longer live a civilized life if we are to go back to the practice of wars and conquests of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries.

Summing up this need of looking ahead, and in words of common sense and good American citizenship, I hope that we will have fewer American ostriches in our midst. It is not good for the ultimate health of ostriches to bury their heads in the sand.

Only an ostrich would look upon these wars through the eyes of cynicism or ridicule.

Of course, the peoples of other nations have the right to choose their own form of government. But we in this nation still believe that such choice should be predicated on certain freedoms which we think are essential everywhere. We know that we ourselves will never be wholly safe at home unless other governments recognize such freedoms.

Twenty-one American republics, expressing the will of two hundred and fifty million people to preserve peace and freedom in this hemisphere are displaying a unanimity of ideals and practical relationships which gives hope that what is being done here can be done on their continents. We in all the Americas are coming to the realization that we can retain our respective nationalities without, at the same time, threatening the national existence of our neighbors.

Such truly friendly relationships, for example, permit us to follow our own domestic policies with reference to our agricultural products, while at the same time we have the privilege of trying to work out mutual assistance arrangements for a world distribution of world agricultural surpluses.

And we have been able to apply the same simple principle to many manufactured products — surpluses of which must be sold in the world export markets if we would continue a high level of production and employment.

ECONOMIC BARRIERS LEAD WAY TO WAR

For many years after the World war blind economic selfishness in most countries, including our own, resulted in a destructive minefield of trade restrictions which blocked the channels of commerce among nations. This policy was one of the contributing causes of existing wars. It dammed up vast unsaleable surpluses, helping to bring about unemployment and suffering in the United States and everywhere else.

To point the way to break up the log-jam, our trade agreements act was passed—and based upon a policy of equality of treatment among nations and of mutually profitable arrangements of trade.

It is not correct to infer that legislative powers have been transferred from the congress to the executive branch of the government. Everybody recognizes that general tariff legislation is a congressional function, but we know that, because of the stupendous task involved in the fashioning and passing of a general law, it is advisable to provide at all times of emergency some flexibility to make the general law adjustable to quickly changing conditions.

We are in such a time today. Our present trade agreement method provides a temporary flexibility and is, therefore, practical in the best sense. It should be kept alive to serve our trade interests—agricultural and industrial — in many valuable ways during the existing wars.

But what is more important, the trade agreements should be extended as an indispensable part of the foundation of any stable and durable peace.

The old conditions of world trade made for no enduring peace; and when the time comes, the United States must use its influence to open up the trade channels of the world in order that no nation need feel compelled in later days to seek by force of arms what it can well gain by peaceful conference. For this purpose we need the trade agreements act even more than when it was passed.

I emphasize the leadership which this nation can take when the time comes for a renewal of world peace. Such an influence will be greatly weakened if this government becomes a dog in the manger of trade selfishness.

The first president of the United States warned us again entangling foreign alliances. The present president of the United States subscribes to and follows that precept.

COOPERATION DOES NOT VIOLATE PRECEPT

But trade cooperation with the rest of the world does not violate that precept in any way.

Even as through these trade agreements we prepare to cooperate in a world that wants peace, we must likewise be prepared to take care of ourselves if the world cannot attain peace.

For several years past we have been compelled to strengthen our own national defense. That has created a very large portion of our treasury deficits. This year in the light of continuing world uncertainty, I am asking the congress for army and navy increases which are based not on panic but on common sense. They are not as great as enthusiastic alarmists seek. They are not as small as unrealistic persons claiming superior private information would demand.

As will appear in the annual budget tomorrow, the only important increase in any part of the budget is the estimate for national defense. Practically all other important items show a reduction. Therefore, in the hope that we can continue in these days of increasing economic prosperity to reduce the federal deficit, I am asking the congress to levy sufficient additional taxes to meet the emergency spending for national defense.

Behind the army and navy, of course, lies our ultimate line of defense—"the general welfare" of our people. We cannot report, despite all the progress we have made in our domestic problems—despite the fact that production is back to 1929 levels—that all our problems are solved. The fact of unemployment of millions of men and women remains a symptom of a number of difficulties in our economic system not yet adjusted.

While the number of unemployed has decreased, while their immediate needs for food and clothing—as far as the federal government is concerned — have been largely met, while their morale has been kept alive by giving them useful public work, we have not yet found a way to employ the surplus of our labor which the efficiency of our industrial processes has created.

EUROPEAN SOLUTION REFUSED BY U. S.

We refuse the European solution of using the unemployed to build up excessive armaments which eventually result in dictatorships. We encourage an American way — through an increase of national income which is the only way we can be sure will take up the slack. Much progress has been made; much remains to be done.

We recognize that we must find an answer in terms of work and opportunity.

The unemployment problem today has become very definitely a problem of youth as well as of age. As each year has gone by hundreds of thousands of boys and girls have come of working age. They now form an army of unused youth. They must be an especial concern of democratic government.

We must continue above all things, to look for a solution of their special problem. For they, looking ahead to life, are entitled to action on our part and not merely to admonitions of optimism or lectures on economic laws.

Some in our midst have sought to instill a feeling of fear and defeatism in the minds of the American people about this problem.

To face the task of finding jobs faster than invention can take them away "is not defeatism." To warble easy platitudes that if we will only go back to ways that have failed, everything will be all right—is not courage.

We met a problem of real fear and real defeatism in 1933. We faced the facts—with action, not with words.

DOCTRINE OF FEAR FINDS NO FAVOR

The American people will reject the doctrine of fear, confident that in the '30's we have been building soundly a new order of things different from the order of the '20's. In this dawn of the decade of the '40's, which our program of social improvement started, we must continue to carry on the processes of recovery so as to preserve our gains and provide jobs at living wages.

There are, of course, many items of great public interest which could be enumerated in this message—the continued conservation of our natural resources, the improvement of health and of education, the extension of social security to larger groups, the freeing of large areas from restricted transportation discriminations, the extension of the merit system and many others.

Our continued progress in the social and economic field is important not only for the significance of each part of it but for the total effect which our program of domestic betterment has upon the most valuable asset of a nation in dangerous times—its national unity.

The permanent security of America in the present crisis does not lie in armed force alone. What we face is a set of worldwide forces of disintegration—vicious, ruthless, destructive of all the moral, religious and political standards which mankind, after centuries of struggle, has come to cherish most.

In these moral values, in these forces which have made our nation great, we must actively and practically reassert our faith.

NATIONAL UNITY MUST BEAR REAL MEANING

These words—"national unity"—must not be allowed to become merely a high sounding phrase, a vague generality, a pious hope, to which everyone can give lip-service. They must be made to have real meaning in terms of the daily thoughts and acts of every man, woman and child in our land during the coming year and the years that lie ahead.

For national unity is, in a very real and deep sense, the fundamental safeguard of all democracy.

Doctrines which set group against group, faith against faith, race against race, class against class, fanning the fires of hatred in men too despondent, too desperate to think for themselves, were used as rabble-rousing slogans on which dictators could ride to power. And once in power they could saddle their tyrannies on whole nations, and on their weaker neighbors.

This is the danger to which we in America must begin to be more alert. For the apologists for foreign aggressors, and equally those selfish and partisan groups at home who wrap themselves in a false mantle of Americanism to promote their own economic, financial or political advantage, are now trying European tricks upon us, seeking to muddy the stream of our national thinking, weakening us in the face of danger, by trying to set our own people to fighting among themselves. Such tactics are what have helped to plunge Europe into war. We must combat them, as we would the plague, if American intergrity and security are to be preserved. We cannot afford to face the future as a disunited people.

BLAZE OF LIBERTY MUST BURN HERE

We must as a united people keep ablaze on this continent the flames of human liberty, of reason, of democracy and of fair play as living things to be preserved for the better world that is to come.

Overstatement, bitterness, vituperation, and the beating drums, have contributed mightily to ill-feeling and wars between nations. If these unnecessary and unpleasant actions are harmful in the international field, they are also hurtful in the domestic scene. Peace among ourselves would seem to have some of the advantage of peace between us and other nations. And in the long run history amply demonstrates that angry controversy surely wins less than calm discussion.

In the spirit, therefore, of a greater unselfishness, recognizing that the world — including the United States of America—passes through perilous times, I am very hopeful that the closing session of the seventy-sixth congress will consider the needs of the nation and of humanity with calmness, tolerance and cooperative wisdom.

May the year 1940 be pointed to our children as another period when democracy justified its existence as the best instrument of government yet devised by mankind.

Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A Life Saving Program

THE proposal to have all railway grade crossings in the city provided with continuous day and night protection is an important traffic safety move, probably the most important to take form here in years. Should it be brought to consummation, and there seems to be no good reason why it should not be, it will mean the saving of lives in the future.

Probably the step should have been taken long ago, and doubtless if it had, some persons now dead would instead be alive. That, however, is useless conjecture, excepting that it provides convincing reason for doing everything possible to make it more difficult for death to take additional toll at the spots where lives have been lost in the past.

The element of danger is, of course, greater at some of Marion's crossings than at others. Doubtless the chief danger spots are in the uptown area, where business buildings shut off view of the railway tracks and often make it virtually impossible for motorists to detect the approach of trains. Hazards are also existent at crossings in outlying sections and at all such points every essential safety provision should be made.

The railroad companies will beyond doubt be ready to cooperate in the movement that has been started by the civic affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce, for they are fully as anxious as any one else to keep crossing accidents at the lowest possible figure. The companies know, as does about everybody, that many of these accidents are the fault of motorists who fail to exercise adequate care and caution, but at the same time they realize that the time will never come when that condition will be eliminated or even remedied to an appreciable extent. Consequently, the only means at hand for assuring a maximum of safety is to give the best possible protection for all motorists, whether they be careful or careless.

The Chamber of Commerce committee advocates having all railway crossings in the city guarded during the entire 24 hours of each day either by watchmen, mechanical warning signals, or a combination of both. The matter will be presented to city council at its meeting Jan. 8 and the hope is that action will follow without delay. It should, for it is at this season of the year that traffic hazards are at a maximum

Talk Softens the Blow

THE only reason dictatorships waste breath on talk is to develop the right mood in the minds of their subjects. The Nazis ranted and raved about Polish sinfulness, the Reds snorted and fumed about the evil Finns, not because the Poles and Finns were desperate characters but because they had been marked for extinction and there was a little matter of rationalization to be handled.

This is an interesting part of the game of fooling some of the people all of the time, but certainly not copyrighted by dictatorships. In the United States at the moment the same thing is taking place in a different connection—and not strictly for non-lethal purposes either. The government is talking the country around to a new point of view about debt. This is being done somewhat as follows:

The people have been advised by their President and his spokesmen that a contemplated spending increase of $500,000,000 for defense should not be added to debt but should be paid for out of new taxes. Furthermore, military expenses should be divided as between "ordinary" and "emergency," following the example of the two-way bookkeeping favored by the Roosevelt administration. Then what will happen?

Politicians will yelp that there must be no new taxes—not even for national defense by gum and by gravy! The President will say very well then, gents, the only thing to do is boost the national debt limit from 45 billion dollars to whatever's needed or infinity, whichever one is closer. And the whole thing will be done without much more than a quiver, because no one will dare to question the necessity of spending another half billion on national defense at a time like this.

Inventive "Genius."

PREVAILING dullness of ordinary minds puts a high premium on inventive "genius." Anyone capable of whipping up a new gadget is, ipso facto, out of the ordinary and, therefore, a genius.

There are, however, the inevitable exceptions that prove the rule. Word has arrived of an invention called the turkeyfurter—a blend of turkey, pork, veal and stuffing contained in a casing. This concoction is laid in a roll, swabbed with cranberry sauce instead of mustard, and presto, a new idea is at large in the world of eating.

The name of the inventor—not available at the moment—will be posted for inscription on tablets honoring the geniuses of modern times, but its inclusion there must be protested. It doesn't take an inventive "genius" to commit sacrilege. The fellow who substituted corn silk for tobacco contributed nothing to man's welfare. Even second-day turkey hash is a greater invention than a turkeyfurter; at least it's bona fide turkey even if the pickings are slim

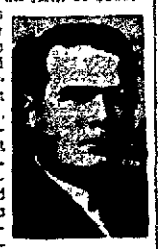
News Behind News

The Budget, It Seems, Will Be What Congress Does to President's Figures.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Jan 3 — Mr. Roosevelt had to take stern steps to save his well-sliced budget from being manhandled by his own new deal officials even before it went to the printers.

Its contents were supposed to be an official secret, but hardly had he stretched an item of $225,000,000 for farm parity payments when a certain senator showed up at the White House to protest such action. Where the senator found out about it is debatable, but officials and agents of various sliced departments and bureaus have been swarming indignantly through the house and senate office buildings, and officials of the agriculture department are among the senator's best friends



Paul Mallon

Thereafter the President sent around a letter to departmental chiefs warning them that what he had done to their budgets was confidential business. When asked about this letter later, he covered his resentment with the polite explanation that such warnings were the usual thing, although the warning words in this one were believed by the departmental chiefs who received them to be unprecedented.

Warning

The ominous incident was a warning from inside that the budget Mr. Roosevelt is planning to announce shortly is not the budget. What congress does to it will be the budget

This is always true, but doubly so in campaign years and trebly true in this particular budget, because this one is eliminating many expenditures which congress will reauthorize — including parity payments. A question is arising over how much parity-giving can be done by the government in view of rising farm prices, assuming the cost of living does not go any higher, but whatever can be given, will be.

The Roosevelt budget, therefore, will not last out the week, or whatever interval of time is needed to make congressional intentions apparent

Pet

Mr. Roosevelt had to sit on his pet department, the navy, in this budget. The admirals had some ideas about building an oil tanker for $9,000,000 or some such sum which would no doubt make a spiffy job of it. The President slashed the appropriation several million dollars. He found the navy can buy tankers from the maritime commission for about $3,000,000 each, and spend about $1,500,000 for converting these commercial ships to their uses, thereby making the cost about half of $9,000,000. The maritime commission makes them cheaper under mass production methods, and while the ships are not as good as the admirals wanted, they will do.

Congressmen seem more avid than executives to go overboard on national defense expenditures, as is evident in house naval committee talk about building battleships of 65,000 to 80,000 tons. (Our largest projected is 45,000 and largest afloat is 35,000.) The 45,000 tonner was planned because the navy heard Japan was building one of that size.

In this instance, however, the naval congressmen will probably calm down. The cost of an 80,000 tonner would probably be prohibitive, as the 45,000 ton ships cost $70,000,000 to $80,000,000 each.

Comparisons

Other budgets, however, in these war days are far worse than ours. The French budget has left officialdom here aghast. Their war outlay calls for an expenditure of more than the entire national French income in 1938. The military budget runs 300,000,000,000 francs $6,720,000,000) plus 80,000,000,000 francs more for normal government expenses ($1,782,000,000). The total is $8,500,000,000. The national income of France in 1938—that is the earnings of everyone in the country—was nearly $3,000,000,000 less (the income figure is $5,340,000,000).

You can appreciate the enormity of this by applying it to the U. S. If our budget were that much larger than our income, our government would be spending eight times what it spent last year.

Of course, French income has been increased since 1938, by possibly 15 to 25 per cent. Also duplications frequently appear in the secret French budgets so that strict mathematical conclusions are not justifiable.

However, one conclusion is, while France and Britain have an economic stranglehold on Germany, they also have a financial stranglehold on themselves. There is a financial limit to how long they can carry on this war, just as there is an economic limit as to how long Germany can survive without raw materials.

Transport in the 30's

Decade Sees Planes, Trains, Ships and Autos Go Faster.

HIGHSPEED PLANE ENGINE
The record rose.

* * *

This is the last of a series of articles on important developments in various fields in the decade just ended.

* * *

By DEVON FRANCIS
A. P. Aviation Editor

A DECADE of intensive research on motors, transmissions, fuels and wings has so affected the science and business of transportation that, as one authority put it, "the remainder of man's activities are having a hard time keeping up with the speed of conveyance."

The most spectacular advance, of course, has been in the air. Airliners in 1930 cruised at 100 miles per hour, now they exceed 200. The world's "absolute" speed record rose from 278 to 468 miles per hour.

But steamships, railroad trains automobiles, trucks and buses also achieved added speed. The easy cruising speeds of passenger cars have risen from 45 to over 60 miles per hour. The number of trains maintaining schedules of 60 miles an hour has increased phenomenally.

Trains Go Faster

Railroad operation, faced with lively competition, has been marked by further electrification, the adoption of Diesel-electric locomotives, the "streamlining" of fast passenger trains, and the use of lighter metals for coach and locomotive construction.

Spirited rivalry between express super-liners and medium-sized passenger vessels characterized ocean transportation, while both the Atlantic and the Pacific were bridged by passenger airplanes flying on schedule. American surface lines clung to vessels like the Manhattan, Washington and recently launched America, but the decade witnessed the construction of great ships: the Bremen, Europa, Normandie, Queen Mary, Rex, Conte Di Savoia, Queen Elizabeth and Mauretania.

Auto, Truck Improvements

Automobiles, trucks and buses received the benefits of greater power for the same size and weight of engine; better springing to prevent "pitching"; Diesel engines; better braking systems and shiftless transmissions.

Air travels, the baby of the transportation field, jumped from 417,000 passengers to an estimated 2,000,000 in 1939 on domestically-owned lines.

Birds of Peace Scared

By The Associated Press

NEUFCHATEL, Switzerland — The storks of Alsace, so beloved by Alsatians that they became the insignia of the whole French province, have been frightened away by the guns of war and are making new homes near Neufchatel, Switzerland.

Many another bird, including many wild ducks and swamp birds, have fled the Alsace marshes and the Alsatian Vosges for new homes in Switzerland.

Most of them have chosen homes around Lake Neufchatel—just a few hundred miles south of their usual home.

Alsatian storks, settling in Neufchatel chimneys, were greeted with joy by the Neufchatel farmers, for its considered a sign of good fortune to have a stork family chose your chimney for a nest.

Live and Learn

One of the newer wrinkles in traffic control is fool-proof street markings for guidance of motorists. Though long in use and growing in popularity constantly, however, relatively little has been done so far about making the markings permanent. They must be renewed periodically.

Lincoln, Neb., has a better idea. On its asphalt streets, white, flint-like stone chips are pressed into softened strips of the surface and rolled down under pressure. One line of this type has lasted five years and has grown whiter with age.

Brick surfaces could be marked with white bricks to get the same effect. It would be hard on paint crews, but easy on the budget.

Today and Tomorrow

Happenings of Past Cited As Best Basis for Predictions About Europe in 1940.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

IT IS the fashion to think poorly of hindsight, but as a matter of fact there is no way to learn foresight except by studying the past. Unless we fancy ourselves to be endowed with prophetic genius, we can improve our estimates of the future only by remembering which of our former estimates have turned out to right, which wrong, and, if possible, why.

The past 25 years provide abundant material for the exercise of hindsight, and as I look back at the false hopes and the false fears by which I have been misled, it seems to me that what I ought to have learned is to distinguish between what might be called the movement of events and the currents of opinion which accompany events.

Walter Lippmann

For sometimes the opinion of the moment is the truth about what is really happening. Often it is not the truth. When the opinion is true, it is like the wind which causes the incoming tide to rise higher, and when the opinion is false, it blows against the tide, holds it back a bit, but does not cause the tide to turn.

In critical moments of decision the men whose judgment has been proved to be correct have been, so I have learned, those men who discounted the opinions and theories and ideologies of the moment, relying upon a knowledge of history and the logic of human behavior.

They foresaw, for example, that the spirit of the Versailles settlement must lead to an embittered rebellion in Germany, knowing that a people which has enjoyed independence cannot for long be kept in subjection. They can now foresee that the spirit of the immeasurably more cruel settlement which Germany has imposed on the conquered nations must, in the nature of things, lead to an even more embittered rebellion. On past experience it was predictable that Versailles could not endure, and that prediction was correct; by the same experience it is predictable now that Berchtesgaden cannot last, and will go down in violence.

Most Accurate Forecasts

In the past six years the soundest judgments have been made, it seems to me, not by men who had the latest inside reports at first hand or second hand but by those who relied upon simple and rather commonplace generalities. It is a simple commonplace generality to say that a vindictive treaty like Versailles could not endure, or that a fierce oppression like that which is now practiced in central Europe must cause men to rebel. There are other generalities of the same sort, and on the whole they are more serviceable than complex and ingenious theories.

The Spanish revolution and the civil war which followed it are a case in point. There was once an opinion current that Spain would convert itself into a parliamentary democracy; then, that it would convert itself into a socialist republic; then, that it would become fascist and totalitarian. None of these opinions was true. The simple fact was that parliamentary democracy is quite alien to the traditional habits of the Spanish people, and those who knew Spain foresaw that. The simple fact was also that the social structure of Spain is profoundly Catholic and Mediterranean; therefore it could not be rebuilt on a pattern developed in central Russia or in northern Germany. It was also feared or hoped that General Franco's Spain would join the "Axis." But that was based on an illusion about the Axis, and upon forgetfulness of the simple geographical fact that Spain is virtually an island surrounded by seas in which the British and French navies are supreme.

Italy is an even more interesting illustration of how the simple realities outweigh the elaborate appearances. Few diplomatic arrangements have been more ferociously advertised than the Rome-Berlin Axis. But the true prophets were those who said that Italy is virtually an island and that, therefore, Italy will never fight against pre-dominant sea power and they are probably right when they say that Italy will take her place eventually on the winning side. These generalities might be wrong. But they are less likely to be wrong than current opinion based on speculation and propaganda.

Russia Good Example

Russia is an even better example of how much more reliable is a judgment based on simple and commonplace generalities than one based on near-sighted intricate knowledge. The bulk of opinion in the democratic countries believed until the end of August of this year in the liberalism of Soviet foreign policy and in the military power of Russia. But the men who were right about Russia, only a handful here and there, held that on general principles a totalitarian system like Russia's cannot be efficient, and that an army which has been purged like the Russian cannot wage a successful offensive campaign, and that a regime so steeped in brutality and betrayal can never be depended upon as an ally.

It took great courage for Mr. Chamberlain to refuse to pay the price demanded by Russia for an alliance. But it showed an even greater foresight.

If now we try to reason in this fashion about Germany, what can we say about the probabilities? We knew from the experience of history that a regime like the Nazi would have to expand until it met resistance somewhere that caused a great war. We know from the past that when a war begins in which the issue is not

Schoolboy Cagers Start Down Home Stretch This Week

Harding at Ashland Friday Night; Irish to Entertain Carey Squad; County, District Games Set

SCHOLASTIC cagers return to the firing line this week to engage in duels which will send them down the home stretch of the 1939-40 season. Many have been idle since before Christmas while others played abbreviated schedules during the holiday vacation.

Marion Harding will resume its fight to retain North Central Ohio conference laurels by invading Ashland Friday. The duel will put Coach Dewey N. Bohyer's team on the threshold of a schedule which stacks them against NCO foes for eight consecutive weeks.

Unbeaten in two rounds of warfare, Harding is tied for the league lead with Mt. Vernon. The A's have dropped but one encounter, that to the Mounties, and by repeating the procedure Marion can pack a perfect record on a visit to Mt. Vernon, Jan. 12.

Irish Book Carey

Marion St. Mary renews athletic rivalry with Carey on the Marion Steam Shovel court Friday night when the Irish seek their seventh win in nine starts. The Saints marred Carey's otherwise perfect grid record last fall and the visitors are out to avenge the loss.

County league teams toe the mark for seventh round games, the first set in the second-half of the current schedule. Pleasant and Claridon will have little to fear in putting their perfect slates on the block in the boy's division, Pleasant playing host to Kirkpatrick and Claridon entertaining Martel. Claridon's girls' team has been tied but is unbeaten, while Kirkpatrick lassies have won five straight.

Other county games Friday are Caledonia at Waldo, LaRue at Prospect, Agosta at Green Camp and Meeker at Morral.

District and nearby county league contestants also are playing full schedules.

Kenton High's Wildcats visit Marysville tonight and are booked for another road trip Friday, when they journey to Urbana. In two NCO contests, Vernon plays at Bucyrus and Galion treks to Shelby. Upper Sandusky's Rams resume activity at Fostoria St. Wendelin and Crestline is slated for a League of Six Nations tilt at Tiffin Calvert in other Friday frays.

Wharton, defending Wyandot county titlists and still boasting an unsullied record after six games, plays host to Eden, a second division occupant, Friday. Harpster, in the runner-up spot, goes to Sycamore to face a club that hasn't copped a win in six tries. Other Wyandot loop duels are McCutchenville at Salem and Marseilles at Nevada.

Four teams, Berlin, Ostrander, Hyatts and Radnor, are tied for first place in the Delaware county league and two others, Harlem and Sunbury, are one game out of the top spot, having played one less contest. This week's games are Ashley at Orange, Bellpoint at Sunbury, Berlin at Hyatts, Radnor at Brown, Harlem at Ostrander and Galena at Powell.

Union Co. Games

Games involving Union county teams are, Friday—Raymond at York Center, Byhalia at Broadway, Magnetic Springs at Richwood, New California at Allen, Union at Darby and Dover at Watkins, with New California at Magnetic Springs, Saturday.

Only one league tiff is set in Morrow county, Chesterville visiting Edison in Hardin county, Ada, a non-member of the circuit, visits Harrod, while Dunkirk is at Rounhead, Alger at Mt. Victory, Forest at McGuffey and Dola at Ridgeway in Friday night contests, and Forest plays at Marseilles Saturday night.

GIRLS' CAGE TEAM IS STARTED HERE

Efforts are being made to organize an independent girls' basketball team to play under the auspices of Jump's Hat Shop of 229 West Center street. First practice for prospective team members will be held tonight at 8 on the Armory court under the direction of Charles Caprino. Membership of the team is being restricted to Marion county residents and girls interested in playing are invited to attend the practice session.

CONTRACT LET FOR TAX LEVY BALLOTS

Unique Printing Co. Low Bidder on Special Election Job.

Contract for ballots for the special election Jan. 30 when Marionites will vote on two extra tax levies for financing relief and WPA costs has been let to the Unique Printing Co. of Marion, election board officials announced today.

The company's bid was $47.25. The Monarch Printing Co. with $48 and the Vaughn Printing House with $50 were the only other bidders.

The board ordered 12,100 ballots. Both tax levies will be on the same ballot.

One levy is for 1.3 mills, raising $44,777 annually for poor relief for two years, and the other is .9 of a mill, raising $30,485 annually for two years for sponsoring WPA projects.

CONNIE MACK OPINES YANKEE'S WON'T WIN

Veteran Points to Improved Opposition, Even in the A's.

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 3—Connie Mack, who can look back upon 77 eventful years, peered into 1940 today and decided he was not picking the New York Yankees "to win again this season."

"New York has a good club, but so has Boston, Cleveland and Detroit, and with any kind of breaks they'll give the Yankees plenty of trouble," the venerable veteran of the Philadelphia Athletics opined.

He hinted the A's, who lost 18 games to the champs last year, might even cause trouble in 1940.

"I'll say one thing, we're going to have an improved team over last year and the Yankees won't win anything like 18 games from us again."

"But," he added quickly, "you never can tell in baseball."

The Athletics open spring training at Anaheim, Calif., Feb. 10 and play the opening game of a heavy practice schedule March 3.

"One ball game does more good at a training camp than four days of practice," Mack explained. "It takes the real thing to get a line on your rookies."

Returning to Shibe Park after several years absence will be Al Simmons, who Connie forsees as a possible "hit-doctor" for Sammy Chapman, young outfielder.

Is Basketball Too Fast?

Veteran Coach Says Game Due To Be Slowed Down for High Schools.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 3—Lew Andreas, who has kicked around this basketball game nearly two decades, figures the time is coming when separate sets of rules will be drawn for colleges and high schools to get away from some effects of the modern "horse-race" court sport.

"This modern game, with the center jump eliminated," the veteran coach of Syracuse basketball said today, "is like watching a table tennis match. The ball is always going back and forth with no stop. It's great to watch, but it puts a severe strain on the youngsters. Physicians have told us that."

The result, he added, may be that the rules will be changed for younger players, the high schoolers. He pointed out that at a recent meeting of educators an up-state physician reported tests showed the high-pressure action in present bakelball causes increated bloodp ressure and strain on the performers.

"So it's altogether likely," Andreas went on, "that the center jump will be legislated back into high school ball to slow up the game somewhat and relieve this pressure on the youngsters. It isn't so bad for college players, largely because they're more fully developed. In addition, there is rigid physical examination in most colleges.

"Not only that, but the modern game, with its speed and high scoring, is what attracts the spectators. And where the turnstiles are concerned, that means a lot in any sport."

FIRST REPORTS OF CENSUS WORK MADE

Business Phase of Work Due To Be Finished by April.

First reports from Eighth congressional district enumerators for the 1940 census which started yesterday were received today at the district office here.

Mrs. Harriel B Stuart of Bucyrus, district supervisor, said the reports were for smaller business which are being covered first. There are 10 enumerators working in the six counties.

The business and manufacturing census is to be conducted by April when the population and agricultural census will start.

Mrs. Stuart issued a warning today to all residents of the district to be cautious in admitting to their homes or offices persons representing themselves as census enumerators.

"If you have cause to be suspicious, I suggest you demand credentials from the enumerator," she said.

All enumerators carry full identification.

Secretary, National Boxing Association

By The Associated Press

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 3—Boxing is in a bad way as it goes into the new year.

It is staggering and reeling from the repeated beatings it took during 1939, handed out by the very men who should be its most ardent supporters and who make their living from the game.

One has to go back a great many years to find a like condition. The present situation has been growing for the past few years, as is evidenced by such cases as have to public notice—the Jack Torrance case in Louisiana, the Adamick-Trammell case in Illinois, and last year the Harry Thomas expose. Too many other minor situations have arisen which had a tendency to give boxing a black eye.

It seems almost inconceivable that boxing promoters and so-called boxing managers (many of whom should be classed only as runners and traners) cannot get the idea into their heads that the boxing fan, the man who supports their game, knows just as much and probably a great deal more about the fighters than do boxing commissions, promoters and managers.

Then why is it that a promoter will try to foist upon the public matches which he knows are really not matches at all, but only exhibitions and which, even as exhibitions, would be classed as poor?

At least we have accomplished something this year which is, in our opinion, very beneficial to the game. We have done away entirely with two-title and three-way champions.

This is not intended in any way to detract from that marvelous fighter, Henry Armstrong, who held three title at one time but nevertheless, such a procedure was eminently unfair to the two boys in at least two of the divisions of which Armstrong was champion.

Allowing a promoter or manager to insist that some one special referee be designated to officiate in a bout is another practice that should be eliminated. Practically every state where legalized boxing has competent, honest referees on its staff, and these are the men whom the various boxing commissions should appoint to handle bouts in their states.

PENN STATE RIPS AKRON'S ZIPPERS

Win 55-20; Ohio U. Smothers Buffalo 78-23.

Penn State's altitudinous basketeers have something besides sheer height—a fast-breaking attack.

The touring Pennsylvanians coasted to a lop-sided 55 to 20 cage victory last night over Akron university's Zippers, dwarfed by the six-foot sharpshooters.

The free throw, "mighty atom" of the basketball court, gave Western State Teachers a 40 to 39 win over Xavier of Cincinnati at Bowling Green, Ky. The score was tied at 39-all with a minute to go, then Hendrick Fulks, Western forward, looped a charity shot.

Ohio university smothered Buffalo university 78 to 23 at Buffalo. The Ohioans held a 42 to 10 half-time advantage. Forward Fred Baumholtz netted 21 markers for the Bobcats.

SKATERS WARNED

Use of Park Shrubbery for Fuel Brings Warning from Board.

W. P. Cass, chairman of the city park board, today issued a warning to young people who have been skating on Mckinley park lake that damage to the evergreen trees and shrubbery will not be tolerated.

He said quite a few of the limbs and shrubs have been torn away to make fuel for fires. If the practice does not end, those responsible will be brought before Juvenile Judge Gast and the lake may be closed to further skating, he said

Mr Cass said it is all right for people to make fires at the lake if they bring their own fuel.

Calling of More British Troops Has Ominous Meaning

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The calling of two million more English youths to the colors taken in conjunction with other indications, leads one to fear that this may be harbinger of a bloody springtime in Europe's western theater of war

The signs point uncomfortably to preparations by both sides for great offensives which will form the pattern of the fabric from which peace will be cut ultimately

It is conceivable that once the war gets under full way there might be a quick decision Or the conflict might drag on for years

Thus far there has been virtually no fighting on the western front Great armies have been sitting there watching each other —just watching Apart from the French troops in the Maginot line, the British expeditionary force to date totals some 210 000, and even this comparatively small contingent has been kicking its heels in ennui

Preparing for Storm

There are about 1,290,000 more men under arms in England ready for foreign service Then why the further 2,000,000 now? Answer Britain and her French ally are getting ready for dirty weather

In Berlin last Saturday Herr Hitler predicted that Germany would be victorious this year, which was a reasonable enough forecast for the captain of any team to make

Field Marshal Hermann Goering came into play at the same time with the declaration that "when the German air-force counter-attacks it will make such as assault as world history never has experienced" He added that "no land is so vulnerable from the air as the British island"

As head of the great Nazi air-force Goering undoubtedly means business—means that the fatherland purposes to cut loose a fearful air-avalanche when the time seems right

The reasons for the preparations being made by both sides, for major offensives are complicated Neither side can sit idle beyond the spring without courting grievous trouble Here is an epitome of the position

From Hitler's standpoint barring miracles, Germany will be strangled by the British blockade unless the Nazis are able to break it The Fatherland must have sea-borne imports to live and wage war

Already those have been virtually cut off Nazidom has tried to increase importation from the Balkans by way of the Danube and by railway, but these facilities are limited

WAGNER ACT CHANGE DEMANDS RENEWED

Court Rulings Bring Question to Front Again.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan 3 — Renewed congressional demands for changes in the Wagner act were made today after the supreme court upheld broad powers of the labor board to direct the conduct of collective bargaining elections.

Rep Routzohn (R-Ohio), a member of the house committee investigating the labor board, said that the three unanimous decisions announced yesterday "helped clarify the situation"

"The decisions" he said, "make it obvious that if any remedy is needed, that remedy must come through a change in law"

Various critics of the administration of the Wagner act have found fault with the board and have contended that the act itself was not being carried out as intended by congress The house committee is expected to recommend changes when it winds up its investigation, and other proposed amendments may be offered by the house labor committee

The court decisions gave authority to the board of control employe elections for determining bargaining representation without interfering from federal circuit courts

The court held that

1 The American Federation of Labor was not entitled to have a federal court of appeals pass on the board's certification of a CIO union as the collective bargaining representative for all Pacific coast longshoremen

2 Federal circuit court had no right to amend a board order directing the permanent disestablishment of an independent union of employes of the Falk Corp of Milwaukee

3 The board acted within its power in placing the name of only one labor organization (a CIO affiliate) on a ballot for a run-off election to determine bargaining representation for employes of the Consumers Power Co of Jackson, Mich The court held that a federal court erred in ruling a federation affiliate also should be on the ballot

FBI Has Heaviest Year in History, Director Hoover Reports To Congress

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan 3 — J Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, reported to congress today that demands on the bureau in the 1939 fiscal year were the heaviest in 15 years, largely as the result of espionage investigations.

He attributed part of the increase to inquiries into anti-trust law violations and the federal judiciary.

Hoover said that espionage cases totaled 1,851, compared with 250 in the 1938 fiscal year and an average of 35 in each of the five preceding years.

As many as 200 FBI agents worked simultaneously on an investigation of the fertilizer industry for the anti-trust division of the justice department, Hoover said

Murphy Makes Report

Attorney General Murphy, making his first annual report, described federal criminal procedure as "highly unsatisfactory" and urged congress to enact legislation giving the supreme court power to revise the rules

Thurman Arnold, chief of the anti-trust division, said that his unit needed additional personnel to handle complaints

Another urgent need of the justice department, according to the report of James V. Bennett, director of the federal prisons bureau, is "a broad, long-range prison building program" By June 30, 1941, he said, it is estimated there will be 2,790 more inmates than federal prisons can house.

Attorney General Murphy said he felt that "considerable confusion and lack of uniformity resulted from the present laws governing handling of criminal cases

The attorney general recommended

That congress not consider legislation concerning administrative law until a special committee appointed by Murphy reports on its study

More Funds Needed

Additional funds for the federal bureau of investigation to provide for greater activity against espionage and sabotage

Increased facilities for housing federal prisoners.

Legislation to require registration of all firearms and a small transfer tax for informative purposes.

Murphy said that "the honest law-abiding citizen" should no more object to registering his firearms (which would include sporting weapons) than he would object to registering his automobile

Placing of referees in bankruptcy on a salary instead of a fee basis

Bringing deputy United States marshals into the competitive classified civil service

Establishing the office of public defender in federal courts

Names of Ineligible Voters To Be Removed.

Workers at the board of elections are busy this week removing from the registration files cards of citizens who will be ineligible to vote in the special election Jan 30 unless they re-register

Notice will be sent probably late next week to persons whose cards are removed They must re-register by Jan 23 at 6 30 in order to be eligible to vote Jan 30.

Usually the notices of ineligibility would be sent out late in February, but since the special election has been scheduled, the notices must go out earlier

Officials said they expect the number of cards removed to be the lowest in recent years. This is largely the result of a new law providing that citizens may remain eligible by voting or transferring residence for any general or primary election in the last two years. Previously a person had to vote or transfer for a general election in the last two years to remain eligible

Ballots for the election are expected to arrive within a few days Absent voting will begin as soon as they are received at the boards offices

The special election will be held to vote on two extra tax levies, one for 1 3 mills for poor relief and the other for 9 of a mill for WPA projects

TRIES SUICIDE AFTER STRANGLING MOTHER

University Librarian's Plunge from Hotel Window Fails.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Jan 3—Homicide Detectives Cyril Letzkus and James O Kane reported a 34-year-old woman university librarian strangled her mother with a scarf during the night, then leaped from a hotel window early today in a suicide attempt that failed

The detectives identified the daughter as Agnes West, an assistant student librarian at West Virginia university at Morgantown, W Va and her mother as Mrs Helen West, about 60

The mother, who was the secretary of the West Virginia university health service, was throttled with her own scarf last night.

The slaying was not discovered until shortly before 3 a m when police investigated the daughter's plunge from the hotel window to a tin roofing over an areaway. They found the mother's body, fully clothed, on the floor of the room.

Detectives Letzkus and O'Kane quoted the daughter as saying later

"I was selfish and unstable. I did not want mother to go through life alone and decided I would take her with me"

Miss West, a graduate of West Virginia university, is in a hospital suffering back and internal injuries

ROTARIANS TOLD OF WHALING INDUSTRY

Capt. George T. Plummer of Massachusetts Is Speaker.

The romance and adventure of the whaling industry which flourished along the New England coast from 1830 to 1867 was brought vividly to Rotary club members at their weekly luncheon yesterday by Capt. George T. Plummer of New Bedford, Mass.

After talking briefly about whaling, Captain Plummer showed motion pictures of an old whaling ship and its rugged old captain The film depicted the hazards and difficulties of an old industry in which 70,000 men were engaged and $30,000,000 invested when it was at its height

Five hundred twenty-five whaling ships made the Bedford harbor their home port Captain Plummer told his audience.

Speaking of whales, he said they are the largest living things in the world, varying from 90 to 110 feet in length and approximately 25 feet in circumference, and that one whale will give as much as 435 barrels of oil

Whaling vessels were wished "greasy luck" when they sailed from port years ago Many of the homes of captains of whaling vessels have, or had, towers where the wives and family could watch for the return of the ship When a ship was sighted the announcement was made throughout the town and great crowds gathered to welcome the returning seamen

The old saying, "Waiting for your ship to come in" originated among followers of the whaling industry, according to Captain Plummer.

The speaker was introduced by George Plinck, chairman of the program committee, Lowell Guthery, a charter member of the club, was a guest

$5,000 Increase in 3 Weeks Before Christmas.

Receipts from sales tax stamps sold in Marion during the three weeks preceding Christmas was more than $5,000 in excess of receipts from stamps sold here during the same period a year ago, County Treasurer Homer D. Cole reported.

In 1938 the stamp sale for the three Christmas period totaled $21,-[illegible] This year the revenue totaled $26,[illegible]94, an increase of more than $5,000. Two Former Marion Co. School Heads on Program of Ohio Fair Managers

Two former Marion county educators will have parts in a discussion of public school cooperation in county fairs when the Ohio Fair Managers' association holds its annual meeting Jan. 10-11 at the Deshler-Wallick hotel in Columbus.

They are E. D. Maurice, who was school superintendent at La-Rue from 1922 to 1935 and is now Stark county superintendent, and C. B. Rayburn, Marion county superintendent for several years until 1932 when he took his present position as Mahoning county superintendent. Both men will be on the program of Jan. 11.

2,000 Expected

The two-day program will be featured by discussion of the problems of Ohio's 90 county and independent fairs by some 2,000 fair officials. Meeting jointly will be the state board of agriculture and a district membership of the United States Trotting association. There will be a banquet the night of Jan. 11 with several prominent speakers, including Gov. Bricker.

There will be sectional meetings for fair secretaries, presidents, treasurers and managers of livestock departments. George A. Dix, a director of the Delaware county fair, will preside at the livestock managers meeting.

Others on the program include: Joseph A. Neville, Delaware fair treasurer, in a talk on keeping fair buildings in repair, and Ray R. Gill of Richwood, state fire marshal, talking on fire protection for fairs.

Several officials from the Marion county fair board are expected to attend.

Local Officials To Go

In addition to the sectional meetings there will be a general session the afternoon of Jan. 10, which will include a "town hall" program covering various phases of fair work.

Among the business to be transacted by many of the fair officials will be selection of amusements for their programs. Various amusement companies and concessionaires will be represented.

Former Marion Couple Wed Again After 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Valentine, former Marion residents, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Dec. 24 in Los Angeles, Calif., according to a news account received from that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Valentine left Marion about 20 years ago. Mr. Valentine was employed at the old Cook Wagon Co. Prior to working for the Marion company he was a member of the Findlay, O., police force.

They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary by being married again at a wedding chapel in Los Angeles. The bridesmaid was their granddaughter, Dr. Ruthella Wilcox, the former Miss Ruthella Caldwell, daughter of Mrs. Mildred Caldwell of 520 North Greenwood street. Also attending the ceremony were their sons, Claude and Josiah Valentine, Dr. Wilcox's husband, Dr. Alexander Wilcox, and Miss Eileen Caldwell, sister of Dr. Ruthella Wilcox. After the ceremony the "bride" served a turkey dinner at the Valentine home.

In a news account of the anniversary plans, which was accompanied by a photograph, Mr. and Mrs. Valentine said they heartily disagree with the opinion many persons hold of weddings that are the result of dance hall acquaintances. They met at a dance at the old fairgrounds at Findlay. "I liked her looks so I asked her to dance with me," Mr. Valentine told the reporter. His wife replied: "I was with three other girls and he asked me to dance and didn't pay any attention to them and the first thing you know he started to chin me, and ..well ...I just chinned right back."

Mr. Valentine's advice to young people just getting married, was: "Let the lady have the most to say and let her be boss—or at least let her think she's boss." Mrs. Valentine's advice was: "Don't be jealous." Mrs. Valentine was 74 years of age on Christmas day.

Dr. Floyd Yeager Installed Head of Doctor's Group

DR. FLOYD YEAGER

Dr. Floyd Yeager took over his duties as president of the Marion Academy of Medicine last night when the group held its first meeting of the new year at City hospital. Dr. Yeager was elected recently succeeding Dr. Warren C. Sawyer. He has offices at 208 South Main street.

Other officers assuming their positions last night were Dr. J. G. McNamara, vice president, Dr. John A. McNamara, secretary, and Dr. M. F. Axthelm, treasurer. Approximately 50 persons attended.

The speaker was Dr. Harry LeFever of Columbus who discussed "Lesions of the Spinal Cord," covering various types of injury, tumors and diseases and their diagnosis. Dr. LeFever was one of the specialists who testified here in 1938 during the trial of Harvey L. Roush, executed for the slaying of Mr. and Mrs. Homer T. Myers.

local, limited and specific, but is the general issue of European supremacy, then that war does not end until the issue is decided. There may be a truce; there were five or six truces in the Napoleonic era, but a war of this character ends either in the victory of the conqueror or in his downfall.

We know, too, from past experiences that the nations which command the seas will win such a war unless the conqueror can strike decisively at the inner citadel of sea power. Therefore, it will be prudent to expect that at some time in the next eighteen months, perhaps even at the end of this winter, Hitler must strike with all his force at the British and French.

But we shall be less likely to deceive ourselves if we expect 1940 to be a year of great and historically decisive battles.

PRAISE FOR A FRATERNITY

Editor of The Star: From earliest civilization mankind has been prone to build monuments, buildings, mausoleums and such, and in many other ways show the veneration in which they hold persons that were of some consequence on earth, and did something for humanity.

Certainly a most wholesome thought and no doubt will be continued as long as mankind inhabits this old earth.

Now I think it will not be amiss to say a few words of praise for persons that are still with us, and doing things for the benefit of their fellow man.

I have in mind an organization that I would award the palms for giving consideration to persons outside their ranks. A comparatively new body of men who inaugurated a movement that succeeded in placing laws on our statute books whereby aged persons can get certain sums of money per month.

Of course I refer to the Fraternal Order of Eagles, and say with loud acclaim, "more power to them" and "may their tribe increase."

There are many secret and semi-secret orders that exist, some that can trace their origin far back into the dim past, but the Eagles are the first that took up (on a large scale) the welfare of non-members, and were it possible I believe that many thousands of citizens of our old Buckeye state would join me in the following toast: "May the skin of a gooseberry make an umbrella large enough to cover the heads of all their enemies."

ADVOCATE OF "BRAKES"

Editor of The Star: The mounting national debt, now in excess of $40,000,000,000, bears mute testimony to the fact that those in authority have but one remedy for bringing recovery and that is pump priming. If Mr. Roosevelt has nothing else to offer, he should say so, step off the political stage of action, and turn the executive reins of government over to Mr. Garner.

Common sense, if followed at the outset of this machine age, would have hunched us to put control brakes on all labor destroying devices, and had we permitted the machine system to replace labor only as such labor could be transplanted to other useful and gainful occupation, then we should not now be plagued with an unemployment mess, the cost of which will weight us down with tax burdens for a hundred years to come.

Even now it is not too late to do some good along that line, and Washington should order the immediate suspension to the further mechanizing of industry until such time as unemployment definitely has been reduced to safe levels.

BUYING HELPS LIFT MARKET

Leaders Push Up Fractions to More Than a Point After Slow Opening.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 3—A little concentrated buying lifted stock market prices today and leaders pushed up fractions to more than a point.

The opening was slow, but business picked up thereafter to permit fair volume. Near the fourth hour most shares were around their best.

No particular news development could be singled out, brokers said, to account for the continuation of yesterday's rise.

Bargain hunting undoubtedly had an effect, as did the release of cash from last week's tax adjustment selling. There was reported to be some short selling at times.

Gainers in stocks included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Du Pont, Union Carbide, Anaconda, Santa Fe, Pennsylvania Railroad, Great Northern, Texas Corp and American Hawaiian.

Sears Roebuck and American Telephone touched new 1939-40 highs. Western Union responded only apathetically to the recommendation of the federal communications commission that the company be merged with Postal Telegraph & Cable Corp.

New Jersey Zinc moved ahead in the curb.

WHEAT PRICE DROPS AFTER EARLY GAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 3—After moving uncertainly above and below previous closing levels during much of the session wheat futures weakened today and lost nearly 1½ cent a bushel at times.

The reaction came after an opening upturn of about a cent had carried September contracts to a new season high of 1.04½. May contracts fell to 1.05⅝, off 1⅜, and July to 1.03½, off 1¼ cents.

Corn held steady, aided by a firmer cash market.

Wheat closed ⅞-1⅛ lower, May 1.06⅛-¼, July 1.03¾-⅞; corn unchanged to ⅛ down, May 59⅜-½, July 59¾; oats unchanged to ⅛ higher.

PUBLICATION ISSUED BY AVIATION CLUB

Dee Woods Editor of Bulletin To List Club Activities.

First issue of Marion's newest publication, "Aviation Booster," was put out this week by the Marion Aviation Boosters club with Dee Woods as editor and Dominic Sansotta assisting.

Mr. Woods said it is planned to make the publication a permanent part of the club's program, and through it to keep members in closer contact. It is mimeographed and contains two pages. There were 200 copies printed for members and persons interested in flying. The Booster will contain news of meetings, flights, incidents and general gossip.

Among items in the first issue is announcement of the appointment of James Rae, chairman, and Bill Markley as a committee for landscaping and beautifying the land around the hangar and for erecting airport boundary markers.

It was also announced in a review of 1939 that through cooperation of Harold Cobb, airport manager, and city officials the port has been improved by rolling the runways, painting the hangar, mowing runways and other activities.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Reveals Her Suspicions of Plot Against Mary.

SINCE I have been thrown into intimate companionship with Queen Olga, of Transvania, I have paid mental tribute to her sagacity and resourcefulness. But when she quietly revealed that she was aware of her daughter's surreptitious telephone conversation to Philip Veritzen between midnight and dawn of the day now before us, I realized that I had underestimated both her astuteness and her skill in espionage.

"Yes, I heard her call Mr. Veritzen last night," I said. "My hearing the call at first was an accident, but afterward, I am sorry to say, I deliberately listened to the conversation."

She's Not Sorry.

"Why do you say you are sorry?" she asked. "I am not sorry you listened. Indeed, I should have regretted it deeply had you shut your door instead of leaving it ajar, for then I should have been unable to check what I learned myself. You see, my door is not as near the telephone as yours, and I was unable to hear all she said. Did you hear everything?"

"Yes," I answered, and was quite sure what her next query would be.

"Would you mind telling me what you heard?" she asked, and when I hesitated, she spoke again quickly, with a note of appeal in her voice.

"I know this isn't exactly an ethical procedure," she said with a smile that savored more of sadness than of mirth. "But Olga is my daughter; I am responsible for her conduct, and I have a right to find out what she is doing by any means within my reach."

Interrupts Her.

"But I am not—" I began dubiously, but she put up her hand in graceful but emphatic protest at my interruption.

"You are Mary's aunt, and in duty bound to protect her, even if the protection involves what might be considered eavesdropping," she said, and so I broke into a hurried recapitulation of the one-sided telephone conversation I had heard.

She listened attentively, pressing the tips of her fingers together in a rhythmic tapping, as if checking off the information I was giving her. But when I finished, she was frowning, not at me, but at some unpleasant thought or conjecture of her own.

"Can it be," she said, "that she is asking Phil for some favor or that he has asked her aid for something he wishes done, and all without my knowledge?"

Wants Madge's Theory.

She dropped her musing tone, and threw an abrupt question at me.

"Have you any theory about this?"

My reply was reluctant.

"Yes, I have, but I am afraid voicing it may hurt you."

"Do I look like a woman who trles to avoid unpleasantness?" she countered.

"I think you are one of the bravest women I know," I told her, and, without further protest, plunged into the story of the suspicion Lillian and I entertained, that Philip Veritzen meant to take the leading role in my play away from Mary after she should give at rehearsal the stilted rendition in which he had drilled her. I also told her of the producer's repeated attempts to have the cast come over to the farm for rehearsals while I was away, and of my steadfast refusal to permit Mary to appear without me.

Queen Olga's face grew sternor by the second as I talked. At my last words she nodded.

"That is very wise," she said. "But this is terrible—about Phil. To think that he could be capable of such meanness and trickery! And it looks as though Olga were helping him. My own daughter! Her youth might be some excuse for her, but there can be none for Phil. And to think that he was the hero of my youthful dreams!"
